

DO YOU HAVE A LOT MORE TO OFFER?

THEN THE NSW POLICE FORCE HAS A LOT TO OFFER YOU.

Does your current career leave you feeling unfulfilled and unrewarded? Do you feel like you could be achieving more? Then consider challenging yourself – consider a career with the New South Wales Police Force.

It's a demanding job, make no mistake – but just look at some of the benefits:

- Camaraderie and excitement
- Opportunities for promotion
- Excellent job security
- Six weeks annual leave and flexible hours
- $50k starting salary
- Opportunities for further study

- Opportunity to relocate state-wide
- Wide variety of career specialisations

But while you'll get a lot out of being a police officer – you'll also give a lot back. Every day you'll be helping people from across the community, and contributing directly to making our towns and cities safer, happier places to live. It's a job that's truly deserving of respect.

So challenge yourself to make a difference – contact the School of Policing at Charles Sturt University, Goulburn for information on the Associate Degree in Policing Practice.
